DETAILED ACTION

1. Claim 1 has been examined. Application 10/674,306 (METHOD FOR COMPUTING PRICE DISCOUNTS IN AN E-COMMERCE ENVIRONMENT) has a filing date 09/30/2003.

Response to Amendment

2. In response to Non Final Rejection filed 06/19/2008, the Applicant filed an Amendment on 09/19/2008, which amended claim 1, and cancel claims 20-36.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

3. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. Based on Supreme Court precedent, a method/process claim must (1) be tied to another statutory class of invention (such as a particular apparatus) (see at least Diamond v. Diehr, 450 U.S. 175, 184 (1981); Parker v. Flook, 437 U.S. 584, 588 n.9 (1978); Gottschalk v. Benson, 409 U.S. 63, 70 (1972); Cochrane v. Deener, 94 U.S. 780, 787-88 (1876)) or (2) transform underlying subject matter (such as an article or materials) to a different state or thing (see at least Gottschalk v. Benson, 409 U.S. 63, 71 (1972)). A method/process claim that fails to meet one of the above requirements is not in compliance with the statutory requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101 for patent eligible subject matter. Here the claims fail to meet the above requirements because the steps are neither tied to another statutory class of invention (such as a particular apparatus). For example, claim 1 recites "computing valid combination" but does not recite in what apparatus said computing is performed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Iannacci (US 2002/0062249).

Claim 1, Iannacci teaches:

A method of computing price discounts for an electronic commerce order, said method comprising:

categorizing applicable price discounts for an individual customer order (see paragraph 129);

computing valid combinations of price discounts for said individual customer order (see paragraph 129);

combining said valid combinations of price discounts into a price discount group (see paragraph 129, 244); selecting an optimal price discount based on said price discount group and outputting said optimal price discount (see paragraph 310-328);

wherein said individual customer order comprises at least one order line item, wherein said at least one order line item comprises a unique item identifier, a quantity ordered identifier, and a price per unit identifier for each item being ordered (see paragraph 310-328), wherein said unique item identifier comprises a stock keeping unit (SKU) identifier (see paragraph 216), wherein said applicable price discounts are based on a customer's identity, date of order, identities of individual items purchased, combinations of items purchased, quantity of items purchased, and total price of items purchased, wherein said price discounts comprise a fixed percentage off price discount, a fixed dollar amount off price discount, a free merchandise rebate price discount, and a combination discount thereof (see paragraphs 311-328), and wherein a discount object command is created when said price discount group is selected, wherein said discount object command binds said price discounts to a respective item in said order (see paragraph 129, 311-328).

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 1 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. Contrary to Applicant's argument, adding "outputting said optimal price discount" does not overcome the Section 101 rejection because the claim continues not to be tied to an apparatus.
